PRAYER

*Dear Lord, we offer this gathering to You,
and ask You to bless it with Your wisdom
and grace.*

We thank You for this opportunity to be together to grow in our love and service of You and each other.

*We ask You to enlighten our minds to know what is true and just, and strengthen our wills to carry out faithfully
what we come to see as our duty.*

May all our thoughts, words and action be directed to making Your name and Your love better known among men and women, for their sanctification and their sanctification and their happiness here and in eternity.

May we all experience peace as we again celebrate Child's birth, and may the glorious light of God's goodness and love shine forth.

In the name of Jesus our Lord.

Amen

ROTARY CLUB OF MARIKINA MARCH

Music: PP Jimmy Capco

Lyrics: Rtn. Francisco Pascual;

Arranger: Rtn. Allan SM Perez

*Come sing with us for fellowship
A song of camaraderie
Then give your hand in fond friendship
To Marikina Rotary*

*We love to share our thoughts with you
And lavish in your company
So, come each meeting day please do
To Marikina Rotary*

Refrain

*Motto of SERVICE ABOVE SELF
Is not a mere phraseology
Participate with zeal and zest
In Marikina Rotary*

*Let us Rotarian serve all
Our beloved community
Then we can accentuate the goal
Of Marikina Rotary*

DECLARATION OF ROTARIANS IN BUSINESS AND PROFESSION

As a Rotarian engaged in business or profession, I am expected to:

1. Consider my vocation to be another opportunity to serve;
2. Be faithful to the letter and to the spirit of ethical codes of my vocation, to the laws of my country, and to the moral standards of my community
3. Do all in my power to dignify my vocation and to promote the highest ethical standards in my chosen vocation
4. Be fair to my employees, associates, competitors, customers, the public and all those with whom I have business or professional relationship;
5. Recognize the honor and respect due to all occupations which are useful to society;
6. Offer my vocational talents; to provide opportunities for young people; to work for the relief of the special needs of others, and to improve the quality of life in the community.
7. Adhere to honesty in my advertising and in all representations to the public concerning my business or profession
8. Neither seek from nor grant to a fellow Rotarian a privilege or advantage not normally accorded to others in a business or professional relationships

GOLDEN PRESIDENT

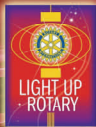

Pres. Jaime N. Cabalquinto

Christmas is a time of love and affection and tonight we share our happiness and joy with our family in Rotary. We extend our Christmas wishes to everyone for a loved filled life, now and throughout the year. And, We exchange gifts and share the blessing we had received...

*Merry Christmas &
Happy New Year!*

LIVING SCIENCE

This Is How Music Can Change Your Brain

Many parents probably read the above sentence and started mentally Google-ing child music classes in their local area. But if your kid doesn't like learning an instrument or doesn't actively engage in the class—opting to stare at the wall or doodle in a notebook instead of participating—he or she may not be getting all the benefits of those classes anyway.

A new study from Northwestern University revealed that in order to fully reap the cognitive benefits of a music class, kids can't just sit there and let the sound of music wash over them. They have to be actively engaged in the music and participate in the class. "Even in a group of highly motivated students, small variations in music engagement — attendance and class participation — predicted the strength of neural processing after music training," said Nina Kraus, director of Northwestern's Auditory Neuroscience Laboratory, in an email to TIME. She co-authored the study with Jane Hornickel, Dana L. Strait, Jessica Slater and Elaine Thompson of Northwestern University.

Additionally, the study showed that students who played instruments in class had more improved neural processing than the children who attended the music appreciation group. "We like to say that 'making music matters,'" said Kraus. "Because it is only through the active generation and manipulation of sound that music can rewire the brain."

Kraus, whose research appeared today in Frontiers in Psychology, continued: "Our results support the importance of active experience and meaningful engagement with sound to stimulate changes in the brain." Active participation and meaningful engagement translate into children being highly involved in their musical training—these are the kids who had good attendance, who paid close attention in class, "and were the most on-task during their lesson," said Kraus.

To find these results, Kraus's team went straight to the source, hooking up strategically placed electrode wires on the students' heads to capture the brain's responses.

Kraus's team at Northwestern has teamed up with The Harmony Project, a community music program serving low-income children in Los Angeles, after Harmony's founder approached Kraus to provide scientific evidence behind the program's success with students.

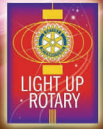

According to The Harmony Project's website, since 2008, 93 percent of Harmony Project seniors have gone on to college, despite a dropout rate of 50 percent or more in their neighborhoods. It's a pretty impressive achievement and the Northwestern team designed a study to explore those striking numbers. That research, published in September in the Journal of Neuroscience, showed direct evidence that music training has a biological effect on children's developing nervous systems.

As a follow up, the team decided to test whether the level of engagement in that music training actually matters. Turns out, it really does. Researchers found that after two years, children who not only regularly attended music classes, but also actively participated in the class, showed larger improvements in how the brain processes speech and reading scores than their less-involved peers.

ROTARY INFORMATION

PP Dindo Ferdinand C. Santos

December is Family Month

“By involving our family members, we make all of our endeavors more successful and enjoyable. We also address the problem, often cited by younger members, that Rotary competes with family time. Once people realize that they do not have to decide between Rotary and family, they will be more likely to accept our invitations to join. And just as important, once they do join, they are much more likely to become and remain educated, productive Rotarians.”

Jonathan Majiyagbe, RI President 2003-04

(the first year Family month was recognized on the Rotary calendar)

“It is important to integrate our own families into the family of Rotary. Rotary should be something that brings our families together – not a force that pulls them apart. Rotary clubs and districts can offer diverse service and social activities that appeal to all members. This is critical if we want to attract younger members, who may have children as well as other demands on their time.”

Glenn E. Estess, Sr. , RI President 2004 - 05

“But the family of Rotary can be more than a single family unit. It can represent many aspects of the organization. The RI Board is part of the family of Rotary International. So is each district as well as each club. Each Group Study Exchange team is part of the family of Rotary. So are our Rotaractors and Interactors and our Youth Exchange students studying abroad. Our RI training leaders and all of our committees and resource groups form various parts of the family of Rotary. Finally, The Rotary Foundation is a large and important part of our family of Rotary.”

Carl - Wilhelm Stenhammar, RI President 2005 - 06

“Like our own family, we can count on the family of Rotary to help when help is needed and to share life’s joys and sorrows. Being part of Rotary means being part of the largest extended family in the world. Rotary is an organization of people who care - about their homes, their communities, and each other. And caring is what family is all about.”

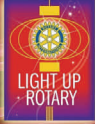

W.B. (Bill) Boyd, RI President 2006 - 07

“Our family of Rotary is strong because it’s close, and because it’s always forming new ties. We need to ensure that Rotary keeps growing – in all the branches of our family. We should always be looking for and inviting qualified men and women to join our clubs.”

Wilfred (Wilf) Wilkinson, RI President 2007 - 08

“December is family month. It is a time to focus on our families, to involve them in our Rotary service, and to challenge ourselves to do even more for those in need. Because there are so many families and so many children waiting for our help, we, as Rotarians, cannot look away. We can-

DIGITALLY YOURS

Dir. Joey C. Ramos II

77 photography techniques, tips and tricks for taking pictures of anything

Portrait photography technique 03: use Aperture Priority mode

Aperture Priority gives you direct control over the aperture, and as a result the depth of field (DOF). Fast prime lenses, such as 50mm f/1.4 and 85mm f/1.2 enable you to choose very large apertures for a shallow depth of field. This can help you create those creamy-smooth, out of focus backgrounds that give portraits a professional quality.

Working with such a narrow band of sharpness means that you need to be accurate with focusing – the entire portrait will look soft if you don't focus accurately on the eyes.

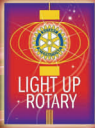

Portrait photography technique 04: using window light

You don't need an expensive home studio lighting kit to take amazing portraits – a window and a reflector can help you achieve stunning natural results without spending too much.

Position your model at an angle to the window and use a white or silver reflector to open up any shadows across their face. A silver reflector will give a crisper quality of light than a white one, although the effect won't be as subtle.

Be aware of any colour casts that may be introduced by features on the other side of the glass as well – a lush green lawn can give skin tones a sickly quality, while late evening sunlight on a patio will reflect lots of warm light.

not and will not rest until all children, everywhere, have the chance for a long and healthy life.”

Dong Kurn (D.K.) Lee, RI President 2008 - 09

“The idea of the family of Rotary is a simple one, and one that we celebrate every December during Family Month. Every Rotarian is part of the Rotary family – but our family is much larger than just our 1.2 million members. The family of Rotary includes every one of the men, women, and children who are involved in our work: the spouses and children of our members, our Rotary Foundation program participants and alumni, and all of those who are part of our programs, in the tens of thousands of Rotary communities around the world.”

John Kenny, RI President 2009 - 10

“I feel incredibly strongly that Rotary should never, ever come between the Rotarian and the family. Rotary service should be something that brings the family closer together. The more that families are involved in Rotary, the more Rotary will thrive – today and tomorrow.”

“It turns out that playing a musical instrument is important,” Kraus said, differentiating her group’s findings from the now- debunked myth that just listening to certain types of music improves intelligence, the so-called “Mozart effect.” “We don’t see these kinds of biological changes in people who are just listening to music, who are not playing an instrument,” said Kraus. “I like to give the analogy that you’re not going to become physically fit just by watching sports.” It’s important to engage with the sound in order to reap the benefits and see changes in the central nervous system.

As to how to keep children interested in playing instruments, that’s up to the parents. “I think parents should follow their intuitions with respect to keeping their children engaged,” said Kraus. “Find the kind of music they love, good teachers, an instrument they’ll like. Making music should be something that children enjoy and will want to keep doing for many years!”

With that in mind, it’s not too late to trade in those Minecraft Legos, Frozen paraphernalia, Xbox games, and GoldieBlox presents that you may have purchased, and swap them out for music lessons for the kids in your life.

THE ROTARY PLEDGE

I do solemnly promise to help advance the object of Rotary, comply with the constitution and by-laws of Rotary International and the Rotary Club of Marikina, ever putting into practice Rotary’s Motto: “SERVICE ABOVE SELF.”

THE FOUR WAY TEST

Of things we think, say or do:

- Is it the TRUTH?
- Is it FAIR to all concerned?
- Will it build GOODWILL and better FRIENDSHIPS?
- Will it be BENEFICIAL to all concerned?
